As I looked back at my life, one of my experience that have affect me the most, it the change in my life went I was in high school. I had change in many different ways, for example the changes in my body, my voice, I grow, etc. But the change I notice the most it was, that I change year by year. When I was a freshman I was realy quiet little boy. I didn't talk in class. I was all ways in class, I didn't said anything the guy that use to bother me. At my second year I was more talkative, I star to flirt with girls, I was more aggressive, I even got in to a fight that year. Well I didn't show much of change that second year. But in my third year I change a lot in a lot of things like, I start getting bad grades, I start skipping school and classes, I meet new friends, probably bad friends, I started dressing with baggy clothes, I even had two girlfriends at the same time. I realy mest up in my second and in my third year, and I had to pay for that in my senior year, like for example I had to study hard, and pass all my classes in order to graduate. But, in that same year, I didn't change many of the things that I did in the pass two years, like for example I didn't change the way I dress, I was still skiping ones in a while, I was still having my kinds of bad friends. But one of the things I was sure, was that I was working hard to pass all my classes. But the time I finish High school I was a complit different Miguel that went I stared. Some of this changes helped me. Like went I use to be very shy I didn't had many friends, but now I do have a lot. Maybe some of this changes had maked me troubles, like because of the way I dress people think that I am in gangs and that had cost me a lot of trobles. But this changes in high School helped me realize that we can do some of the things that we like and till do what we have to do like studying and be able to go on with our life.
